Para 1: Tom was shocked when he saw his parents appear at the ceremony hall.

Q1: How did Tom feel?

Q2: What would Tom do?

Q3: What did the father and mother do?

Para 2: Hesitating for a moment, Tom's father told him everything that happened many years ago.

Q1: What did the father tell him?

Q2: What was Tom's feeling?

Q3: How did Tom react?

Tom was shocked when he saw his parents appear at the ceremony hall. He stood rooted to the floor for a moment ,not knowing what to do . Seconds later, he tried to contain himself and awkwardly walked up to greet his father ,ignoring his mother's existence. But when he heard others whispering about his mum's ugly face embarrassment came over him. With anger written all on his face, he pushed his mum hard out of the hall . Seeing Tom's mum leave with deep sorrow. his father followed them out.

Hesitating for a moment, Tom's father told him everything that happened many years ago. His mum got burnt severely to save him in a terrible fire . Tears streamed down his face when he recollected how much he had hurt her all these years. how he had ignored her and he realized the amount of pain and agony she had gone through. After the ceremony, he found his mum and embraced her, saying “Sorry“ again and again. From then on he thought of his mom's face even with scars as the mom's beautiful face in the world and his mom as the most respected woman in the world.

原文分析

Hector参加地理测试的分赛

Hector stood in the front of his fifth-grade classroom as one of the last two competitors in the Room Five Geography Bee. His opponent having missed the last question, it was Hector's turn. If he answered his question correctly, he would be the Room Five champion.

"Where did I put that second sheet of questions?" Mr Adler whispered while searching through a thick pile of papers on his messy desk. 老师找不到比赛题 Beginning 起因 had a reputation of being disorganized with a long history of misplacing things. "Oh well, I apologize for the delay," said Mr. Adler after what seemed like a long time.

"Hector, please tell us the capital city of Brazil." Hearing the question, Hector smiled. Then, there was the answer.

Later that day in the courtyard, many classmates congratulated Hector. Hector赢得分赛 wearing a proud smile, he greeted and thanked them all. Oh, the sweet taste of victory.

As it was getting late, the courtyard became deserted. But Hector still didn't want to leave. Then he saw Mr. Adler crossing the courtyard and holding a half-open bag full of papers. As he hurried past, the envelope dropped out but Mr. Adler was unaware, turned a corner and disappeared. Build-up 发展 Hector picked it up. On the envelope were the words "Fifth Grade Geography Bee Questions and Answers". Hector stared wide-eyed at the envelope. Before he even had time to reflect on the consequences, he opened it and read the questions.

Hector不知该怎么办

As soon as Hector had done it, he knew it was the wrong choice. regret and whatever he did now, he couldn't change the fact. "What if Mr. Adler thought I stole this morning's questions too?" Hector thought. "He'd take away my Room Five victory for sure." Little did he know that one of the best days in his life would be turned into the worst so quickly. worry his conscience, Hector was totally at a loss what to do.

续写赏析1

成长中的蜕变：成长的动机+过程中变化的心情 (resolution)

Mr. Adler, though a great teacher, had a reputation of being disorganized with a long history of misplacing things.

As soon as Hector had done it, he knew it was the wrong choice.

Torn by his conscience, Hector ...

“What if Mr. Adler thought I stole this morning's questions too?” Hector thought. “He'd take away my Room Five victory for sure.”

Before he realized it, Hector found himself standing in Mr. Adler's room. “Hector! Come and help me look for...” “This?” Hector stopped Mr. Adler mid-sentence, holding out the open envelope. Mr. Adler's brows were smoothed but then knitted again. Before he formed questions, Hector started unbosoming his regrets. If he had waited another moment, they would have torn him into pieces. “Can I still be in the Bee?” asked Hector timidly. “Absolutely, my honest boy,” Mr. Adler patted his shoulder. “I don't believe in punishing people for making the right decisions and correcting their mistakes.” Immense relief washed over Hector.

Hector stared wide-eyed at the envelope. Before he even had time to reflect on the consequences, he opened it and read the questions.

The next day the entire school came to watch the Fifth Grade Geography Bee. Having been up late studying, Hector looked exhausted but extremely excited. So did the other competitors. All the eyes fixed on the stage, Hector felt blood rushing onto his cheeks and his heart beating fast. Unfortunately, the questions Mr. Adler rewrote were so tough that he was knocked out in round three. But Hector realized to his surprise that he didn't feel bad about losing at all. Whether others knew he was smart was of no significance. He'd set out to learn everything about the world and ended up learning more about himself.
